The start of a new school year!
With it came many changes. For the newest faces, Taylor became a comfortable home-away-from-home. For those returning, the reunions of second families began.

Whatever the circumstances, the year gave Taylor students a fresh start, with new goals, expectations, and relationships that would change and mold their lives.

But the students were not the only ones affected by change. Coming to Taylor they found a new library being completed and the start of a new bell tower, replacing the one destroyed by fire which once stood as Taylor's symbol.

Taylor's leadership also changed, under the strong new organization led by Dr. Jay Kesler. The institution had been given a new foundation to build upon and a new chance to reach brighter horizons.

With the new foundation, the quality of life on campus was greatly enhanced. Both academics and spiritual pursuits were nurtured and grew healthy throughout the year.

The task yet remains, however, for students to continue building on the new foundation, growing with every aspect of campus life.

Parents, Weather Highlight Weekend

There could not have been a more beautiful weekend on Taylor's campus for this year's Parents Weekend, September 27-29. Clear skies and warm weather accompanied students as they showed their parents the community where they live for most of the year.

Dr. Kenneth Gangel, professor and chairman of the department of Christian education at Dallas Theological Seminary, returned to his alma mater opening the weekend with an inspiring chapel message. Dino Kartsonakis, world renowned sacred pianist, performed an outstanding concert on Friday night.

The guest speaker at the Saturday family prayer breakfast was Marta Gabre-Tsadick. Gabre-Tsadick spoke of her escape from the Ethiopian Marxist coup in 1974. Following the prayer breakfast were various activities, including a soccer game and a women's volleyball game. Many students and parents came out to enjoy the weather and watch the Taylor Trojans defeat Eureka College in football.

The weekend concluded with a praise celebration Saturday evening with devotions led by Dr. Kesler and the Sunday morning worship service led by Dr. Gangel.

Reminiscing . . .

Senior Mark Bolthouse educates an alumnus on the fine art of playing in an airband.

Homecoming 1985 brought together friends from past years to renew old acquaintances and relive fond memories. The theme, taken from Deuteronomy 32:9, reminded us that "For the Lord's portion is His people." It was a time of continuing growth, remembering how far we have come.

Chairpersons for Homecoming Week, Jayanne Housholder and Scott Hughett, did an excellent job of organizing the week's activities. With the help of Mrs. Betty Freese, associate director of Alumni Relations, and a 17-member cabinet, preparation for Homecoming began in the Spring of 1985.

Several activities were planned for Spirit Week, including couples' softball, a class dinner, an airband contest, purple and gold day, and a bonfire at Taylor Lake. The week's activities provided incentives to become more enthusiastic about Homecoming Weekend Oct. 25-27.

A new addition to the weekend's activities was a Homecoming court complete with king and queen. The freshmen representatives were Susie Reynolds and Steve Erickson. Sophomores were Darla Haskins and Doug Baker, with Juniors Darla Griffith and Greg Habegger also serving. King and queen, both seniors, were Tim Glass and K.C. Carlsen.

Variety Show '85: Quite Pleasing

Variety Show 1985 was just that, a showcase for a variety of Taylor talents. Music anchored the show with a variety of styles. Greg Cox, master of ceremonies and a small group of senseless, no-minds provided attempts at comedy between acts. The overall effect was quite pleasing.

Some highlights of this year's show were Devold's interpretation of a neo-classic Devo song and Fourth Morris's soon-to-be-classic "Taylor Blues." Also unforgettable was Dina King and Robert Rotter's version of "Where Do the Children Go" and Linda Burkin's finale of "99 Luftballons" sung in German.

Overall, it was an entertaining show, good enough to bring people back again the next year.

Gene Garrison loved his mother. He always wanted to love his father. When he left his father's home, he took the first right, the second left, and kept going. Sometimes every effort to communicate, accommodate, and to feel love only leads to alienation.

Taylor University was confronted with this dilemma in Robert Anderson's "I Never Sang For My Father." The play, directed by Dr. Oliver Hubbard, was presented Homecoming weekend, October 24-26 and the following weekend, October 31-November 2.

In the play, Tom Garrison (George Conant) felt his children were "benefits" for his later years. His wife Margaret (Jennifer Mighell) thought of them as "treasures." Their daughter, Alice, (Elaine Beavon) was banished from family and responsibility because of her marriage to a Jewish man.

Gene Garrison (Brian Smith) is the son who willingly provides support that his father never gave his mother. Gene seeks to create a supportive relationship with his father.

Others appearing in "I Never Sang For My Father" include Toby Shope, who played the porter/waiter and Ginger Ducker as Mary. The nurse, Janet Halsy, was played by Beth Curran. Jim Wolff appeared as Reverend Pell, Robert Hartwell as Marvin, Kurt Knuth as Dr. Mayberry and Jamey Schmitz as Mr. Scott.

Back to the Future

Borrowing liberally from the movie of the same name, "Back to the Future" was the theme of this year's Nostalgia Night. Brian Lautenbach, Sally Perkins, Joe Maniglia and Brian Bartow split the emcee duties for the evening. The emcees with Dirk Rowley opened the show with a send-up of "Back to the Future," detailing youthful Jay Kesler's attempts to win the fair Janie from the bully Biff Wheaton.

The Faculty Four, featuring Dr. Mark "Slow Hand" Cosgrove on lead guitar, opened the musical portion of the show with a blistering rendition of "Johnny B. Goode." Mike Yoder and Greg Beaverson followed, with their cover of the Everly Brothers' "Bye Bye Love" and "Dream." Swallow Robin offered some comic relief with their version of "Gilligan's Island," featuring one of the homeliest Gingers likely to be seen for a while. Right before intermission, Clyde "The King" Parker shook the audience from any complacency with his high-powered version of "Blue Suede Shoes."

After intermission, Robert Rottet and Doug Mantha excited the crowd with "Oh Boy." Five Swell Guys, in perfect harmony, took the crowd "Up the Ladder." As the evening drew to a close, the audience wanted a memorable send-off. They weren't disappointed. The men from Penthouse worked the crowd into a frenzy with their fully choreographed cover of "Rock and Roll Music." It was then up to Joey and the Belltones to close the show. And what a closing it was. With Joe "Belushi" Maniglia handling the lead vocals, they brought the house down with their version of "Shout."

All in all, excitement was high, injuries were few, and a good time was had by all.

Opposite page, top — The voices of James Kenniv, Bryan Bartow, Jim Wierenga, Steve Swing and Kelly Kamentz harmonize into a rousing rendition of "Up the Ladder." Freshman fifteen.

Callouses on feet from walking to classes, Cook's, and 'Hoes.

Youth Conference Delegates

Bryan Lautenbach and Jill Garzon combined their organizational talents Friday through Sunday, April 18-20, to provide Christian camaraderie for more than 800 high schoolers who descended upon the Taylor campus for the 53rd annual Youth Conference.

Mike Nelson provided the religious impetus for the event with four stirring messages on the theme "It's Your Move." Nelson, pastor of churches in Nashville and Colorado, has also practiced his energizing evangelism working with Taylor President Jay Kesler in Youth for Christ.

Besides Nelson, the Youth Conference delegates were treated to discussion groups, and air band contest, Saturday games and a DeGarmo and Key concert as well as frequent treats of pizza and ice cream.

Merriment and Mayhem In

A Midsummer Night's Dream

In an evening of romance, suspense and humor, the Taylor University Little Theatre presented William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Feb. 20-22 and Feb. 27-Mar. 1.

Directed by Dr. Oliver Hubbard, the production captured Shakespeare's art of "mayhem and frolic," as one reviewer put it and introduced several new actors to the Little Theatre stage in addition to its veterans.

The play revolves around a mischievous elf named Puck (Beth Riggle), who through her magical potions wreaks havoc and hilarity on the frustrated Hermia (Debbie Spear), Lysander (Andy Winters), Helena (Coreen Zorowski) and Demetrius (Richard Muthiah), as well as Queen of the Fairies, Titania (Rochelle Manor). Puck also "befriends" a group of misfit tradesmen (Joe Maniglia, Frank Sharp, Toby Shope, Alan Cunningham, David Flood and Karl Knarr) who are on their way to perform "a most lamentable comedy" for Duke Theseus (Greg Cox) and his bride-to-be, Hippolyta (Shawna Stoll).

Although things seem almost hopeless by the end of Act I, Puck proves her powers to do good by removing the spells she has cast on the group. Of course, the tale ends well for all.

Overall, the show brought back the charming days of Shakespeare and an escape for the audience into the dream world of theater.

Bottom — The band of tradesmen from Athens rehearse their most "lamentable comedy." This page, below — Helena stares in disbelief as Lysander declares his rejection of Hermia and his devotion to her. S.A.C. Presents '85-86 Concert Series

The ever popular David Meece, followed by an awesome stage show and performance by Leslie Phillips and Randy Stonehill, kicked off the 1985-86 Concert Series sponsored by S.A.C. Highlights of the series included the sensational Sandi Patti, who packed the Rediger Chapel/Auditorium with an audience of all ages.

Parent's Weekend, the famous classical Christian pianist, Dino, ministered to a totally sold-out audience with intense variations of songs such as "The Old Rugged Cross." Larnelle Harris, the 1983 Dove Award Winner and 1984 Grammy Award Winner for Male Vocalist of the Year, and Jeremiah People, a group featuring comic and dramatic sketches, were two unique events of the series. Other favorites included the outrageously wild Steve Taylor, who gave the crowd a show packed with nonstop action.

Finally, DeGarmo & Key brought the series to a close on Youth Conference weekend, giving perhaps one of the best concerts of the year. With this finale, the 1985-86 Concert Series was truly a smashing success.

Wandering Wheels

Students at Taylor often supplement their college experience by taking advantage of the opportunities offered by Wandering Wheels. The organization is associated with Taylor but is not exclusive to the university.

This year students were involved in Wheels through interterm trips to California and Israel, the spring break trip to Florida and the "Circle America" which was completed in November, 1985.

The "Circle America" trip was a ten-month bicycle trip of over 10,000 miles that took 60 bikers around the perimeter of the United States. They began in Brunswick, Georgia February 1 of '85 and finished there in November, around Thanksgiving.

Wandering Wheels was created in 1964 by Bob Davenport to offer young people a group experience with adventure and physical activity and to combine it with Christian fellowship and witness.

It began with bicycle trips and has grown to include a retreat center known as "The Kitchen" and the possum buses which take groups for weekend and week-long adventures to places such as the Smokey Mountains, Disney World and the beach. Many other trips are offered, including tours of Florida, Vermont, California, the Rocky Mountains and coast-to-coast tours. Wheels' trips are not limited to the United States. There are also trips offered to places such as Israel and Europe.

The Move From A to Z

April 30 was not what one would consider to be the most pleasant day to move a library, but that's what we did. At first it just sprinkled, but soon the rain really started to come down. The rain didn't seem to bother too many people, though. Classes were cancelled and about 1,000 people came out to help carry books from the Ayres library to the new Zondervan library, named after Mr. and Mrs. Pat Zondervan.

Five hundred students were pre-registered to help in the move from A to Z. Pre-registration was not required of off-campus students or faculty, but a good number of them also participated.

The plans for the big move had been in the making since November and on May 1, six months later, those plans came to a successful completion. The $5.5 million library opened to serve the public with its current 140,000 volumes and it has much more room for expected growth.

In addition to the present services and facilities of the library, the Zondervan library will also house the science reading room, the music library, the Learning Skills Center and some book materials from the Learning Resource Center. There are a number of study rooms, a typing room and a computer room.

The entire project is expected to be completed by the end of the summer of 1986.

More Than A Pinch of Strychnine

Joseph Kesselring's "Arsenic and Old Lace" had more than just a pinch of strychnine. Taylor University's spring play brought back some of the warm-hearted comedy of the 40's along with spine-chilling surprises. Dr. Jessica Rousselow sculpted the classic comedy into a lovely work of art, sold out in four out of six of the performances May 1-3 and 8-10.

The three act play involves the lives of the Brewster family, including Abby (played by Cindy Erickson), Martha (Sally Perkins), Johnthan (George Jackson III), Teddy (Frank Sharp) and Mortimer (Greg Cox.) The two aunts, Abby and Martha, have taken it upon themselves to ease the suffering of lonely, elderly men by inviting them to dinner and then enticing them to drink a deadly glass of elderberry wine, as though they were doing a service project for their favorite charity. The pair leave the stage at the end of the play with nephew Teddy — all three being escorted to Happydale Sanitarium.

The home is left in the capable hands of Mortimer and his girl friend Elaine Harper (Jean Yordy.) Even Jonathon's plans are foiled: he and sidekick Dr. Herman Einstein (Joe Maniglia) are taken to prison after trying to turn the house into a beauty parlor for criminals.

Seniors Capture Class Competition

T aylathon '86 was an exciting week of inner-class competition sponsored by I.C.C., including couples softball, canoe races, the tricycle race and the bike-a-thon. All of the classes showed great spirit throughout the week.

The highlight of the week, the bike-a-thon, proved to be a close race between the Juniors and the Alumni team. The Juniors led most of the race, but due to penalties, they fell behind the Alumni team and took second place. The Juniors were awarded the trophy for the bike race in the class competition.

The senior class finishing first in the class competition, winning the canoe race, couples' softball and the trike race.

More than Fun, It's an Adventure

To experience a Taylor adventure, one does not have to join the Army, Marines, Navy or Air Force. All one really has to do is participate in Taylor intramurals.

The adventure starts as early as the first floor meeting, when the upperclassmen scout eagerly for big football players and tall basketball players, or anybody who can swing a heavy bat, all in the desperate hope of winning an intramural championship.

After the teams are assembled, they begin competing against each other in men's and women's football, co-ed volleyball, men's basketball and men's and co-ed softball.

The importance of the adventure lay not in the winning, however, but in the fact that after the screaming, yelling and official abasement, students can end the adventure with good feelings and cemented friendships.

Sun Brings Intramurals Back Outside

When the sun had melted the snow, and the grass began to get green again, competition returned to the intramural fields. But this time, the game was softball instead of football.

This spring, there was the traditional guy's softball league and for the first time, guys and girls played together in a co-ed league. The competition was tough with Swallow Robin taking the guy's championship, but most people just came out to enjoy the sun after a long winter.

Presenting Operas In English

On May 16 and 17, the Taylor University Department of Music presented two delightful one-act operas in English, including "The Telephone," by Gian-Carlo Menotti and "Gianni Schicchi," by Giacomo Puccini.

Hermanson Recital Hall roared with laughter during both presentations. The first work, an opera buffa, took place in "Lucy's" apartment. Lucy, played by Peggy Coppler (Taylor, '71) has been called on as the opera opens by Ben, played by Dr. Timothy Sharp.

Ben brings with him a gift for his beloved Lucy — a telephone. However, the gift and other distractions keep him from the real purpose of his visit — a proposal of marriage. Finally, he resorts to the telephone as a means of guaranteeing her undivided attention for his proposal.

The Puccini-Giovacchino Forzano work was the biggest delight of the evening, though, with its set and lighting enhancing the brilliant musical score.

As the story opens, relatives of Buoso are mourning his death, but are really concerned only with his will. They hire someone to impersonate Buoso, a ruthless merchant named Gianni Schicchi, who will persuade the lawyers to change the will.

Schicchi does persuade the lawyers to change the will, but with an unusual twist — he suggests that most of the fortune should go to himself.

Taylor Chapel —

From the September William Hill Conference on Spiritual Renewal to the TWO Commissioning Chapel in May, chapel has been just what it needed to be three times per week — the spiritual glue cementing the minds and manners of Taylor Students and faculty.

Each week was punctuated with special speakers. Department of Religion faculty members had the lion's share of chapel leadership, but made their appearances between off-campus Christians such as Anne and Ray Ortlund, sponsored in September by the Staley Distinguished Scholar Series.

The Rev. Robert Griffin, Director of Student Ministries and Campus pastor, was an important part of chapel, too, organizing the services and helping daily to provide for the spiritual growth of each student.

Spiritual Glue for Students, Faculty

Not Just Another Wednesday Night

It was just another week, just another Wednesday night. It was until Taylor time, that is. The restless crowd members filed into their seats, craving the music of their favorite groups. It was to be one of the greatest concerts ever created, featuring such performers as Loverboy, the Pointer Sisters, REO, the B52's, the Captain and Tenille, Falco, and INXS. No, it wasn't Live Aid II; it was Airband '86.

Airbands have become a tradition at Taylor over the last few years. This year, there were two contests. The first took place first semester during spirit week for Homecoming and the second took place during Taylathon weekend in May. Both were sponsored by I.C.C.

The End of An Era

The spring of 1986 marked the end of an era for the residents of Swallow Robin Hall. Rumors had been in the air for many years, but now the rumors had become reality.

Since 1916, Swallow Robin had housed either men or women. From its establishment, Swallow Robin had created a certain pride in its residents like no other hall. This was due in part to its closest resemblance to a fraternity than any other dorm.

Lowell Haines, Dean of Students, also expressed his feelings toward the historical building by saying, "The concern is not over keeping it as a residence hall, but to maintain the facility as a part of Taylor's history. We have to retain our heritage, and I think Swallow's a key part of that." He also expressed concern over breaking up a close knit group like Swallow by saying, "Anytime you get guys that close, that's positive. It enhances their years here at Taylor; it also increases their chances of finding and making some strong and lasting relationships."

As the last student moved out of Swallow near the end of the 1986 school year, Taylor closed the door to the final chapter of Swallow Robin Hall and a legacy that no other residence hall can or will replace.

Enjoying The Last Days

Over two-hundred anxious and apprehensive seniors, along with their parents, gathered in the Hodson Dining Commons for the yearly senior dinner which was served by Taylor faculty and their spouses. After a good time of fellowship with parents and friends, the crowd enjoyed a delicious dinner and then headed to the Rediger Chapel/Auditorium for a program to be put on by a few selected seniors of the 139th graduating class.

The house lights went down and with a loud shout in the dark the announcer introduced the Taylor community to "Late Night '86," with David Letterman, (Terry Linhart). This fun-filled evening featured guests, musical entertainment (Don Hecox and George Jackson), as well as a host of others who wanted to stop and reminisce about their past four years at Taylor.

The evening came to a close by the singing of "The Time Has Come," written by George Jackson III especially for this special occasion.

The Rev. Charles Swindoll, noted Christian evangelical author and pastor from Fullerton, California, delivered the Baccalaureate address "Who's Calling Your Cadence?" Swindoll challenged 271 Taylor graduates to keep their Christian integrity as they strive for successful lives.

Swindoll compared following God with heeding the commands of a Marine drill instructor. "The secret was learning whose voice of authority to follow and then to follow it," he said. "The D.I. was literally God on earth, "You did precisely what he said . . . and you walked precisely to his cadence. When you finally learned his voice, then you were able to follow his cadence." Upon leaving the security of a campus with a heritage of almost 140 years, Taylor graduates must learn to follow the voice of a higher authority, Swindoll said. "Listen to the voice of authority. It's the only way you'll survive."

Swindoll, quoting from a book about how people in Watergate compromised their integrity, read . . . "It is not as hard to do what you know is right to do, as to do what you know is right."

Swindoll ended by saying "Go for it. Guard your integrity. Give yourself away. Now get at it."

The benediction was given by Mr. James Klosterman. He and his wife were presented with the "Distinguished Parents Award" of 1986.

It's Over . . .

It's 1:35; I'm late. They told me to be here by 1:30. Leave it to me to be tardy for the very last time of my college career. Boy, is it hot and humid in this place! Oh, well, it's better than rain. As I walk up the stairs I can see the people scurrying to find a good seat to see their child march to the melodic strains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

Well, I made it! No, we made it. All these familiar faces that I know so well will in a matter of hours become a part of my past. What? Yes, Sue, your cap's on straight. How about mine? Thanks! I can hardly believe that four years have come and gone so fast. It seems like yesterday when my folks drove into this place, helped me and my roomie build my loft, and called me at least once a week on our new phone system. Man, where has the time gone?

Here we go. The processional's just begun. Well, graduate, welcome to the real world!

That's the way Saturday, May 24th started for many of us. Proud that this moment was finally upon us yet still a little apprehensive in many ways of the unknown, but willing and ready to face the challenge. Ready to show the world "whose cadence we were going to follow" as Rev. Chuck Swindoll had instructed us to do during his Baccalaureate Address.

It wasn't long after we had been seated that we sang a great hymn of the church entitled, "How Firm A Foundation."

"Fear not, I am with thee —
O be not dismayed,
For I am thy God,
will still give thee aid;
I'll strengthen thee, help thee, and cause thee to stand,
Up-held by my gracious
omnipotent hand."

What truth and revelation was in that song. K.C. Carlsen gave us an additional challenge to celebrate this day to the fullest and to take what we have learned here out to the masses who don't know Christ because His dying for us was the greatest event, long before "Hands Across America, Live Aid, and even We Are The World: USA for Africa." By sharing the saving knowledge of knowing Jesus Christ personally, even the lost, the homeless, and the hungry can know the peace that goes beyond all understanding.

I made a vow to myself to become the kind of person who would become a "servant" for the kingdom of God in no matter what facet the Lord decides to use me, be it wealth or a call to work in the inner city.

Here comes the big moment that we've been waiting for . . . I can hear them calling my name; well Melvin Hall, it looks like the both of us will be remembered here today in more ways than one.

Taylor Student Organization (TSO) is the voice of you, the Taylor Student Body, for the purpose of providing co-curricular development in spiritual, intellectual, physical and social areas of student life. TSO has effectively represented the student body before the administration and other Christian colleges nationwide.

"I've been most excited by the number of students who are concerned with using their gifts for the benefit of the whole student body, especially in the area of leadership. Taylor really is preparing people to go out in the world and be salt and light, and that begins with understanding Christ's example of servant leadership," said David Steiner, Student Body President.

TSO has had a banner year in 1985 and 1986 and experienced many firsts. Steiner had the privilege of being the first student representative on the University Cabinet. TSO also hosted its first annual Christian Leadership Conference for high school students and held its first ten-week Leadership Symposium.

Other noteworthy accomplishments by TSO during the 85-86 year were the fifth annual National Student Leadership Conference, a heightened efficiency in dealing with campus issues, installation of a ride board, an international and multicultural handbook and a balanced court system dealing with discipline recommendation cases.

Highlighted activities throughout the year included services of a contemporary Christian music information night, refrigerator rentals, van services and blood drives. The Student Activities Council (SAC) sponsored concerts, including Sandi Patti, Randy Stonehill, Leslie Phillips, Dino and others. Popular movie attractions were "The Star Wars Trilogy" and "Rocky Movies I-IV."

The Executive Cabinet of TSO was headed by Steiner as well, with Scott Crutchfield serving as Chairman of the Senate; Mike Heiniger, Chief Justice of the Student Court; George Jackson III, Vice President for SAC and Wendy Rutherford, Vice-President for Student Services.

Others were Scott Hughett, Leadership Services Coordinator; Garnell Williams, Multicultural Co-ordinator and Sarah Meier and Julie Wixton, Press Services coordinators.

"I consider it a privilege to have worked with such a high calibre group of dedicated and responsible individuals this year," said Randall E. Dodge, Director of Leadership Development and Student Programs. "The TSO has definitely earned its excellent reputation for responsible Christian leadership in student government," he added.

George Jackson III, Vice-President for S.A.C., commented, "I am very proud of S.A.C. It has set a standard for quality films, concerts, and activities. We have set a path for a new wave of excitement and culture for Taylor. It has been a privilege to work with S.A.C. and through the changes, people can see an exciting heritage and future."

Echo Keeps Up With Changing Times

The Echo made a major change in its publishing of the school newspaper this year. With the acquisition of two new computer terminals and a laser printer, the staff was able to print print-ready copy which saved the Echo hundreds of dollars in printing charges. This also gave the staff a chance to become familiar with the systems that many large circulated papers use.

The paper came out every two weeks and was highly devoted to keeping the campus informed on issues facing Taylor students on and off campus.

Just for You!

We started off as a small staff and got off to a slow start. But we finished the year with an even smaller staff and a quick finish.

The 1986 Ilium staff went through many adverse situations such as not having pictures taken, not having copy written, and losing the pictures we did have taken. Yet, we were able to meet each deadline. Sometimes it took us all night, but we did make it.

It is our wish as a staff that you enjoy what we have made just for you!

ATHLETICS 1986 ILIUM

Team Shatters Offense, Defense Records

The Trojan football squad battled to a 5-4 season in what has been a record-shattering year for the team. In his fourth year as coach, Jim Law and his men put on a show for the fans as they tackled an intense schedule that included six NCAA schools.

Leading the offensive unit was All-American lineman and pro hopeful Wade Russell. He and the rest of the offensive line held the opponent defense long enough for quarterback Dean Hill to toss 14 touchdowns and for senior running back Scott Bibler to run, run, run . . .

Hill, a senior captain, passed for 1,645 yards and 12 TD's while Bibler became Taylor's first 1,000 yards plus rusher. Bibler ran for 1,126 yards in nine games. Junior wide receiver Steve Wild had another "wild" record setting year, catching 12 touchdowns and totaling 1,032 reception yards.

Not to be outdone, senior kicker Troy Silvernale, who set career records in the kicking department by booting 133 points — another T.U. record.

The defense was also outrageous, as seniors Don Sauer and Greg Billings unmercifully pounded on the competition. Jimmie Hill led the defense with 47 unassisted tackles and freshman Matt Clouser, a defensive back, set yet another school record with seven interceptions.

Coach Jim Law and the boys of pigskin definitely finished the season in style as they strapped Geneva College 42-13.

Race To National Competition

Both men's and women's cross country teams made it to nationals this year, after placing well in NAIA District races.

The men went to national competition Nov. 16 after placing fourth in Little State and ninth in Big State. They took second at District, losing to Anderson by only three points. Brian Shepherd, Pete Bowman, Doug Cornfield and Jeff Peterson made the All-District 21 team for their efforts.

The ladies won five of their eight meets and took seconds at Little State and NAIA Districts. Jodi Williamson led the Taylor ladies as well as 80 teams and 300 runners in for first at the NAIA nationals, receiving an Academic All-American honor for her season efforts.

Volleyball Boasts Even Season

Taylor women's volleyball team improved its season record to 11-11 from a 1984 14-26 tally, with the efforts of second-year coach Jill Wyant.

She noted that the close-knit group had been a "joy to work with" and praised their attitudes.

The young team's greatest strengths were found in good hitting and hit placement. Leading hitters were also the team Co-Captains, Tracy Bane and Theresa Summit.

Summit was honored at the end of the season by being named an all-American and securing a place on the NCAA all-tournament team. Bane, her co-captain and roommate, made the all-tournament team last year.

Team members included three seniors, three juniors, one sophomore and five freshmen.

Tennis Team Rebuilds

Led by Marty Reitgraf at No. 1 singles, the Taylor men's group maintained a really good attitude, according to Coach Steve Brooks, during this rebuilding season. They did not compete in 1984.

"Most of the players haven't played on college teams before Taylor, so experience would be our greatest weakness," Brooks noted. He added that the attitudes of such players as Reitgraf, Dave Askeland and Jim Roy were their greatest strengths.

Besides playing singles, Reitgraf combined with Keith Wright for No. 1 doubles, along with Tom Flanagan and Jim Roy in the No. 2 spot.

Tennis Ladies End Season with .500

After a year's absence from competition, the Taylor Women's tennis team battled to a 5-5 record, despite tremendous problems with inexperience.

Coach John Roth noted that some of the girls had not even played in high school, let alone attempted the college circuit. Yet they did not have a game where they really played poorly, he added.

Their absence caused a slow start, during which they lost the first three out of four matches. But from there it was smoother sailing as they won four out of the last six.

Wins were over Marian (twice), Huntington, Earlham and Franklin. Roth explained that the fantastic team spirit was the key to their increasing wins.

Although there were no superstars, Celsie Grimm held down the No. 1 singles spot, with Karan Helm at No. 2. Grimm and Linda Clark were the only team seniors.

Soccer Enjoys Super Season Start

Coach Joe Lund and his soccer team fought hard for Taylor in the '85 season, but were unable to turn the stats in their favor for a winning tally during his second year as coach. They did, however, win one more game than last year at 4-10.

The 14-game season started out in excellent shape, with four wins in the first six outings. They took the first game of the Marion tournament 1-0 and also blanked Purdue Cal 3-0 even before their first home game, when they defeated visiting Bethel College 2-1.

After winning one game of the Greenville tournament Sept. 20, everything was downhill for the season, though, as the remaining conflicts went to their opponents.

Lund noted that the young team, consisting of no seniors, lacked offensive talent but worked hard defensively and never gave up a game. Co-captain sweeper-back Doug Stevens led the defensive efforts.

Kansas City Bound . . .

Late in the evening of March 5, the Trojans and their fans began preparation for their second trip in three years to Kemper Arena in Kansas City and NAIA National Championships. Hosting the NAIA District 21 playoffs, Taylor defeated Purdue Calumet to become the '85-'86 champions and earn a trip to Kansas City.

Taylor lost in the first round of nationals to the College of Charleston, W. Virginia, but the season still ended on a high note. Earlier in the season, Taylor defeated David Lipscomb University, which eventually became the National Champion.

Other highlights of the season included the naming of senior Tom Granitz and junior Ralph Gee to first team all-District 21 and NAIA honorable mention All-American.

Women's Basketball Rebuilding

The Woman's basketball team was tough competition in the conference, recording a 7-15 season win-loss record but losing eight games by an average of only three points.

Karen Helm and Sue Schlueter paced the defense and Rochelle Fakes and Marianne Getz led the offensive action.

Getz led the team in point-getting with 25 for a game high. She also led in rebounding, grabbing 18 in one conflict.

Rochelle Fakes led from the field, getting 12 points in one game. She also took eight at the charity strip in one game, again more than her teammates. She made 11 free throw attempts in one outing.

Sue Schlueter was nine for 12, with the best field goal percentage of the lady Trojans in any one game. Karen Helm was a perfect 6-6 in free throw percentages, however. She also led the team in assists with nine in one outing.

Trojans Take Third 20-win Season

Even though the Trojans posted their third straight twenty-win season, the team did not match up to many preseason expectations. The team ended with a 22-18-1 record but many of those losses were opportunities for wins.

The record was good enough to advance into the NAIA District 21 playoffs held in Anderson. After being roughed up by Hanover in the first game, the Trojans went on to win three games before being eliminated in their fifth game by IUPUI.

Individually, the team was led by Tom Spahr in hitting and Matt Clouser in pitching.

Coach Relies on Seniors in First Year

Theresa Summit led the women's softball statistics during the Trojanes' spring season, with her 77.3 individual pitching percentage and a batting average of .350 for 28 hits in 80 at bats.

She also chalked up 16 RBIs for the 27-game season. She and the other Trojanes were more experienced than last year but did not do too much better statistically, winning only one more game this year than last with six out of 27. Last year they recorded five wins and 19 losses.

New Head Coach Ron Korfmacher thus had his work cut out for him to make winners of the group, but last year's lack of experience was not the problem that it has been in the past. Five seniors helped lead the team, including Sharon Christman, Rachelle Fakes, Traci Pickering and Lauren Tanis.

Korfmacher looked at the season one game at a time, wanting to win more than last year, which he did. Dave Nonnemacher served as his assistant coach.

Pickering and Shannon Ford, a junior, helped Summit with the Trojane pitching. Pickering won three of her games and lost two.

Linkers Come Alive In District

After having no team last year, Taylor golfers managed to keep above water and even surprise some people as the season progressed.

The season was a new experience for first-year golf Coach Philip Loy and his team, only two of whom began the action with any experience — Roger Muselman and Rod Ogilvie.

Dan Johnson, Kent Bundy, and Ogilvie led the early season action with Johnson posting the best score of the year, a 79 with nines of 39, and 40, during Taylor's own invitational April 26.

The team's best effort came at the end of the season during NAIA District 21 championships at Norwood in Huntington. Taylor was fourth after the first round, dropping to sixth during the second round.

Trojans Take NCCAA Track Crown

An NCCAA track crown was a fitting finish to the Trojan season this year, as the team was undefeated in dual and triangular meets.

The win was even sweeter on May 3 with Coach Joe Romine's being named Coach of the Year. Willie Wood, the Trojan's Most Valuable runner, was also honored as Outstanding Male Athlete.

Wood, the TU lightning force in short distances and the NCCAA 200 meter champ, disappointed no one in the meet, taking the 100 in 11.4 and the 200 in 22.23.

The 400 meter relay team, including Pedro Rosario, Mike Yoder, Rob Church and Wood, set an NCCAA record with that win at 42.55. The 1,600 was taken by Jeff Raymond, Scott Nieveen, Church and Wood in 3:23.66. Raymond also won two individual events in the NCCAA competition, taking the 400 in 49.48 and the 400 hurdles in 55.25.

Taylor also took the NCCAA shot put and discus with Most Valuable Player in field events Wade Russell winning both.

Trojanes Capture District Title

Lady Trojan track stars (Trojanes) capped their excellent seasons Saturday, April 19, by ending Manchester's two-year winning streak and taking their second NAIA District 21 title since 1983.

Coach Jill Wyant was also named co-district coach of the year with Manchester's Steve Jungbauer. The Trojanes had an undeniable lead in the event with 163 points, compared to Manchester's 140, Anderson's 88 and Marion's 72½.

The team's success has been pre-determined by its depth and the District title was a perfect example. The ladies scored in 17 of the 18 events.

One of the team leaders has been sophomore Michelle Hollar, who set a meet record with her 17'8" long jump. Hollar also won the triple jump with a 33'2" effort and anchored the 1,600 winning relay team, consisting of Shelli Striber, Teresa Gollmer and Rachel Meighan.

Two other strong contenders in the season who placed well at district level included Gollmer, who won the high jump with a five-ft. effort. Jodi Williamson broke the district 5,000 meter record by almost 37 seconds to win at 18:04.8.

3rd South

We women of Third South set out this year to change our bland reputation of years previous. With the help of our gracious Lord we have succeeded! Although our floor is composed of many divergent personalities, we all share a common bond in that we love fun, rowdy times, and senior mono. Although we permit no talking, no flossing, no dancing, no sleepwalking, and absolutely no macking we manage to lead massively exciting lives; every moment is a thrill. We pattern our lives after

Queen Linfa the zoner, though she's just a kid. Unfortunately, we witnessed the corruption of a dear sweet Ethiopian wingmate by the dynamic duo. But she still doesn't talk during quiet hours. Never let it be said that Third South hasn't had its impact on the Campus of Taylor University. Good Eeeeeevening!

2nd South

Hi, my name is Agnes and I'd like to tell you about my experience as a prospective student. I had the 'delightful opportunity of staying on Second South, and let me tell you . . . it was an experience.

I was lugging my stuff up the stairs and I opened the door to the hall and ran into someone pacing the floor while she studied. If that's what college does to you, forget it! I got all of my belongings to my room and then I went to the bathroom. Let me tell you — that's one ROCKIN' bathroom. On my way out I saw two girls running with Cabbage Patch Dolls being chased by one ticked girl! She was HOLLARing at them! I don't know what they were doing to the dolls, but it wasn't pretty.

It was almost time for dinner so a group of us got together and headed over to this place they call the D.C. We got there and one S.S. girl took my number — I thought you were only a number at big colleges! Another S.S. girl was kind enough to give me a scoop of fake potatoes. It was kind of strange. One girl that I sat next to ate cottage cheese with everything. I was told that she even puts it on her cereal in the morning. GROSS!

When we got back to South Hall, I once again ran into the mad pacer. This time I heard shouts coming from the first suite and someone explained to me that "Monkey Breath" and "Baboon Butt" were fighting over "Baby Donald." Whatever!

I goofed around a little with some of the people . . . before I knew it, it was 11:00 — time to be quiet (Ha Ha!) Suddenly I heard a bunch of alarms going off and asked what was going on. They said it was Third Shift and the Bahama Mamas were getting up to study. At Midnight? Oh well . . . such is college life.

At 6 A.M. the next day I ran into someone just coming in for the night. I don't know where she was, but she was probably studying. You know that's all those South Hall people do!

I don't know . . . after my stay on 2nd South, I think maybe Taylor IS the place for me! And hey — Second South? YOU'RE GREAT!

Swallow Robin

Obituary to a Dorm:
"Home is not where you live but where they understand you."

— Christian Morgenstern

With its condemnation in the fall of 1985, notions of future use of Swallow Robin as a residence hall came to an end.

Services will be held in conjunction with the dorm picture, conveniently timed to coincide with the first sub-freezing temperatures of the season.

Since its birth in 1916, Swallow Robin was home to over 2,000 male and female students.

More than a home, Swallow was the frame in which a multitude of cultural traditions were developed. The termination of this society will no doubt find a place in history beside the collapse of Greek civilization and the fall of the Roman Empire.

Along with its life-long mission of fostering thriving GPA's, the Swallow Academy for Young Men also provided its members with a number of institutions designed to develop Taylor's "whole person." These included D.D.G.
Club, educational dorm movies (Love is for the Birds), Roach Ranches Consolidated, Third Floor South of Breakdancing, World Federation

Wrestling, (Snooka), and Quotable Quotes
("You don't boo a child of God!" — Wallace '83).

Being the illegitimate son of Taylor, Swallow also recognized the need for community services such as the Big John Stud Dating Service, Freelance Fencing, Inc. (A special thank you to second EW for their participation), Swallow Serenade, and the infamous Swallow Robini.

With the passing of Swallow, we can only pray that the memories of being Beta Sigma Rho will live on. You can help by sending your tax-deductible donations to "Save the Birdhouse" in care of the Taylor Board of Trustees.

Pease? Why is our theme peace when 2nd East doesn't know the meaning of the word? The PARTY begins promptly at 11 p.m. in the middle of the wing. (Do we have quiet hours?)

First, its time for aerobics. Next come the antics of Cindy and Gar-Baby, the Bahama Mama. Those girls never sleep.

For Second East, life is a party all year long. Both Sarah and Sara love to jam — crank that "Jungle Love!" Speaking of love, we LOVE our brother floor, First Morris. A great Halloween party (featuring a real live Gumby), open house, prayer breakfasts, etc. — it wouldn't be the same without those guys.

But when (and if) the party dies down, you can find serious women on Second East. Pam, Kathy, and Lisa try to keep things peaceful and quiet on our wing. BA HA! Rita, Suzanne, Michelle, and Sandy are serious about MEN! To add a little excitement to the wing, Karita, Brenda, Beth, and Pam pull some serious pranks.

In all seriousness, God has blessed Second East with an interesting variety of personalities. We are capable of being peaceful when necessary, and we also love to be spazzes. Most important of all, we recognize that God is our power in ALL that we do.

Have you ever seen so many beautiful women on one wing? Have you ever known a girls' football team who won Intramural Football Championships two years in a row? And to think we were called "Barbie Dolls!" Yes ... you've guessed it, the gals of Second W Olson. From football to Airband, you've just gotta love us!

Get me to Chicago, Berg is calling; Twit; "I CANNOT WAIT UNTIL DECEMBER 28th!" Flipper; Ed Grimley has returned — I must say! "Oh my gosh, I want that '79 Corvette!" Is there really a Bill Murray? Knit any Neck Warmers lately? The Queen of S.A.C. "Are you serious — he really drives a car with fur in the back window?" Your father really is Mussolini! "Is that Bears' Q.B. Jim Mac-Mahon really Mexican?" Long live the Sapp family! Black is beautiful ... Weekend in Colorado? Spring Break '86! Third W Wengatz Cheerleaders; pink sweatshirts; pizza parties in the health center; bobbing for apples ... You know the one; Dr. Everything will be all right — that's the main thing; Juno Queen; I hate when that happens ... All in all, it's been a great year! There's a murder on Second Center Olson ... We'd better write Dear Gabby about this one. Did I tell you ... "It's a joke, Diane's not really engaged?" We'll have to skip her "engagement shower" and go to see "Attack of the Killer Tomatoes" instead. Or, I heard there's a good mousse fight in room 224. That reminds me ... "Hey Deb, what about the wing shirts?"

We're having some fun ... I thought this was the Penthouse fire drill — (I hate when that happens). It's 2CO making the traditional snowflakes for the ROWDY Christmas Chapel. Speaking of rowdy, Susan was moved off the wing. Sad thing you know ... TOO many dates!

Wendy is leaning again — Hey Kim, is that YOUR phone?

We're having some fun ... Hey, you three ... don't you know its open house? — Get your clothes on!

Has anyone seen the residents of room 231? I heard that they denied the 6' rule again, and they were locked in the airlock. Is MaryLou locked up, too? No, she's just serving at another banquet! What about Linda? No, she's just using her worms and doing a little fishing! Sometimes she even uses tarpoons — right, Kim?

We've had some fun ... Bible studies, birthday parties, and the Homecoming Motorcade! "May Grace be with you," THANKS goes to Mel and the Holtzberry's.

1st E Olson

First East Olson comes complete with the necessary members to contribute to the insanity of its occupants. First, we have Ladema who is an expert in the art of imitating frying bacon. Then there is Robin and her basketball baby. Oh! And Jeremy Case ... have you received any strange phone calls? We have a couple of foreign women who have been trying to reach you. Of course every mental institution has its mischievous patient who graciously leaves a box of empty pop cans at her P.A.'s door for a morning surprise. Right, Jamie?

To go along with its unique members First EO has unique rules; don't open your Chip-n-Dale Calendar in front of your P.A. She's liable to take it and keep it for herself.

Although a few of the girls have taken the dive and sacrificed their lives for only one man, the general consensus here is "All guys are slugs."

We don't want to get married; we're havin' too much fun. We don't want to get tied down to any single one. We have a lot of boyfriends — we treat 'em all the same. To marry one and leave the rest would be a rotten shame! We LOVE YOU, 1EO.

Our wing is a very unique wing with an interesting Crew aboard the SS English. After many late nights studying, all night fire drills, 1 a.m. snow fights, midnight walks, stale popcorn, and a few attempts at aerobics (for some of us), we've become a close group of friends.

In the first suite is: Katrina: "Can I borrow some popcorn?" Vicki: "Five o'clock — time to get up." Susan L.: The Floridian/Bahama Woman — "Too Cute!" Michelle: The Night Owl. Paula: The Wind-up Toy Collector. Julie B.: "Chocolate!" Shelley L.: The dedicated El. Ed. Major. Sue: The Boss.

In the next suite is: Kim: "Don't bother me! I'm organizing my make-up drawer." Diana: "Look, I dance like PeeWee Herman!" Liz (P.A.): "Did someone shut my alarm off?" Jeanne: "Boooo! — Oops?" Davina: "Where's Todd?" Erica: Always studying. Susan M.: Carebear Lover. Amy: Always Scoping.

And in the last suite is: Jean: "Bean" — The Entertainer. Julie W.: All around athlete. Shelley S.: The Bride-To-Be who has a third roommate — Jeff Fratus. Jodi: "What's a wing meeting?" Toni (D.C.): "Hey, girls!" Julie H.: Just horsing around. Stacey: "Jenny, if you don't get up and stop pushing the snooze . . ." Jenny: "I'm just resting my eyes!"

So there are the girls of Second South English. If you ask me, we're a pretty nifty group!

"You are always my friend and through the years we will change, but it doesn't matter what we do. Throughout our lifetime — you are always my friend." (Susan Polis Schultz)

Third South English . . . where we're closer to heaven! That could be debated when Becky comes running out of Suite 301 followed by a cockroach, and Tove and Caroline have flooded closets (on the third floor)!

We have had many educational experiences such as learning about Danice and the display toilet, "Hama Hooper," Rhonda — "Oh, Cold," K.T. spitting, Lynette's dress (that zips up the side), Heidi, the flying angel who decorates trees. Deb's gumballs, Jayne & Lori's Bio lessons and Karen's attempt to run away from home.

In the pursuit of an M.R.S. degree, we find Beth asking every man who has two legs and breathes to marry her, and Linda, Cama and Elaine wondering "What should I wear?" Friday night finds suite 312 with Ruth, Beth, Karen . . .

and all of 3CW!

On the physical fitness side . . . our "winning" football season was led by Denise, while evening aerobics were led by Rhonda. Sheena was the ringleader in snowball fights.

If you happen to see a group of girls playing water balloon volleyball or being led around in a line blindfolded, it's probably 3rd South English . . . but look out for the one who's smiling . . . it's Jenni and she can be dangerous.

I 'm so stinkin' cornfused!" comments Carol Meier, Personal Assistant to gymnast Mitch Gaylord and 3CE, when asked to comment about the residents of her wing. "I knew my girls were of a different breed when 15 of them showed up pregnant at the D.C. on Halloween Night. Then I became a little concerned when the 3 a.m. Freshman initiation donut run resulted in near arrest by the efficient Upland police who were either massively bored or "just doing their jobs." Our classiest moment is a toss-up: either ice skating in high heels in Indy, or modeling "Fashions For a Fire: What every well dressed woman dreams of wearing when awakened at 1 a.m. by several consecutive fire drills." Our athletic ability goes unsurpassed — we are undefeated in nerd bowling. And the "OOPS! I Broke A Nail" gals finished up their first intramural almost-pro football season with an astonishing two and five record (with one of the wins being a forfeit). Special moments are always shared at the Wintergreen lifesaver parties where sparks really fly, or on horseback with the 3CE Equestrian Club members. We celebrate our wonderful experiences with a 10 ft. long sundae followed by U.S. Military Aerobics to get us all in shape for another fantastic year on Third Center.

"Yes, it was definitely a year worth re-living, if anyone would be that crazy!"

3rd E Wengatz

3rd C Wengatz

What first comes to mind when you think of Third Center as a wing? This question was asked of various wing members, and such responses included: "fellowship and unity," "variety," "accepting," "a respect and concern for the individual," "a wing that's not afraid to be different" and just plain ol' "good times." Generalities, yes, but these replies are only a reflection of the uniting of thirty individuals of quite varied personalities.

3CW is the proud home of Spiderman, "Rock," the Neon radio show, Bob Jones (?), the Rim Shots, Dave Ruths — Senator, the wing video, that intriguing laugh, Tyrus, midnight capture-the-flag at the annual Windigo Christmas retreat, Hobart's "Friday's Food-for-thought," "that ain't cool," Matt Tevis, Rob Hanlon, and BUSHUR, BUSHUR, BUSHUR!

Artists, musicians, athletes, pastors, congressmen (that's you, Paul), Bahamians, Jesus Christ, ping-pong champs, "Sharp-dressed men" and even U of M fans (sorry, couldn't resist) all have a place in 3C. The results of such a mixture are displayed in the qualities you read above and it is our hope that, while here at Taylor, you may come to enjoy and appreciate life and learning together as we have. Ah, Third Center: the moving, the fun, the heart . . .

It was an outstanding year for the men of Second East. In the fall, "Slow Children at Play" (2E) won the intramural football championship. Another highlight in the year was 2E's own Jim Wierenga running for Student Body President.

The one thing that everyone on the wing had in common would, no doubt, be a sense of humor. The most memorable event had to be the funny farewell movie for Mark Klayum and Dean Amann, who left the wing after first semester. Mark graduated and Dean took the plunge (marriage). The whole wing participated in the making of the movie.

Everyone's sense of humor and knowing that there was always someone you could talk to is what made this wing and this year so special.

One night as I was working undercover for Taylor Vice, I entered First East Wengatz and observed a man called "B.K." chasing a bat down the hall. As I turned the other direction, a "BIG GUY" was walking his two "BULL-DOGS" down by the "love hut" as they "SPONGED" some food from a stranger. "PALS," "RENEGE RICK," "TODD" and

"BREAKWAY BECK" were playing a dirty game of euchre. Next, "LEEFORD" led a group of wingmates out for some Newt's burgers and a pop at Handy Andy's. After some time had passed, a guy who was apparently on an "OVERDOSE" came screaming down the hall. The whole wing fumble-drilled the "BIG GUY" with "BUFFY," of course, jumping on last. I could see the "BIG GUY" had some "MINER" problems. Then right before my eyes, he was killed as a "THORN" pierced his heart. "CRAZY EDDIE," the person responsible for his death, was being prepared for trial as the crowd "FLOODED" into the courtroom. The prosecuting attorney was questioning "EDDIE," trying to bring out the "TRUE" facts of the incident so the judge could properly interpret the "LAW." "CRAZY EDDIE" was later released due to insanity as some of the evidence was "SKIPPED" over by the judge. Sometimes enforcing the law can be a tough battle.

Dear Mom,
My first year at college is almost over and I've really learned a lot. Thank Dad for the soap on a rope, but I found I didn't need it living on First West.

The girls here are unbelievable. I was a dating madman only to fall prey to being "Just Friends." A lot of the guys tell me it's "KOOL" to be single, but Chumley and the Slim tell me it's not. I've also been offered advice from the Bake, Chico, Heeb, Sexy, and Tippy, but from what I hear, their credibility with women is ranked with the revenge of the nerds.

Halfway through the semester, Taylor's administration glorified our academic excellence by sending us these funny white slips. Some of the guys like Duke, Walt, Miquel, and the Fridge were lucky enough to receive more than one. But with the help of Fish, TnT, Koala, the Belgian Waffle, TOB, Woody, De Madman, Nasel, the "500" club, little guy, Zieds, the Music Men, Wolfmen, Linus, and the Doobie Brothers, I enriched my study habits greatly.

One of the highlights of the year was the wing involvement in the Fall Airband. First West placed two out of the top four with Ratt and Mickey. Tippy, Slim, Chumley, and I had a lot of fun dressing each other up as cheerleaders. Don't worry, Mom. Dr. Ruth said it was "Goooot."

Thanks for the grapes, you crazy Gal.

The Brotherhood is a tradition that was started in 1967 during the Jimmy Wheeler era. The floor continued the tradition with Bro Ho Court, butt-sliding, late night TV, late night studying (?), All-Star wrestling, and Wade mania (the floor hulkster).

Great fiascos, like our floor sweatshirts included floor dinners with some great girls' floors. And then there was the floor picture: a surrealistic interpretation of Leonardo da Vinci's painting "The Last Supper." The highlight of the year was, of course, Bro Ho Court. An impromptu evening of Christmas caroling in October also proved to be a classic rendition of Brotherhood

Of course, there was the annual racquetball tournament and the annual golf tournament, not to mention late night Othello and Acquire games.

In conclusion, it could be said that the men of the Brotherhood once again pulled together in the spirit of the Bro Ho tradition.

Kesler, Yost Begin Leading Taylor

With September and the beginning of classes began the administration of Taylor's 28th President, Dr. Jay L. Kesler. Formerly President of Youth for Christ/USA, having served with that organization for a total of 30 years, Dr. Kesler has also authored ten books. Beyond that, he has served on the boards of a number of organizations, including CHRISTIANITY TODAY, the Christian College Coalition, the International Council on Biblical Inerrancy, and CAMPUS LIFE magazine.

Dr. Kesler arrived at Taylor University to serve as our President and subsequently contributed to our lives in this past year through the wisdom and experience he brought with him to the position.

The new administration has had several positive effects on the University. Dr. Kesler has been very accessible. His primary goals for Taylor this year have included keeping Taylor alive spiritually and financially. This involved working to promote a natural, vital Christian faith arising out of a desire to serve the Lord. Dr. Kesler also worked to raise endowments to provide opportunities for other young people to join the Taylor community. On a more personal level, he sought throughout the year to "spend time" with a number of students and other community members, making long-term investments in their lives.

Time has a way of changing things . . . like people, places, situations, and institutions. Institutions like Taylor University, for example.

A new administrative structure proposed by the Board of Trustees created a new position to be filled directly alongside that of the President this year. This position, that of Executive Vice President/Provost, was filled by Dr. Daryl Yost. The new administrative structure made the President responsible for the overall, or external, affairs of the University. Executive Vice President/Provost Yost was delegated responsibility for internal affairs by the President. This included business, finances, and educational functions.

"He is a breath of fresh air in a day when this old world is choking on stale thoughts and smoggy cliches."

— Chuck Swindoll

Aside from his responsibilities as President, Dr. Kesler also took time during the year to involve himself in some of his favorite hobbies: woodworking, carving, fishing, and gardening. He also worked on building a garage for his home. Most importantly, he spent much of his time with his wife Janie, who enjoys many of the same activities. Mrs. Kesler also loves music, plays the piano, and has a ministry to the elderly, aside from her responsibilities as the President's wife and Campus Hostess. The couple also enjoyed spending time throughout the year with their children and grandchildren.

Well, this is the end. This is the point when I get to say anything I want about the Ilium '86. I sincerely hope that what has been created serves your memories well, and will help each one of you remember special times that each one of us holds close to our hearts.

I owe special thanks to those people who helped make this book possible: my closest friends who encouraged me along the way; those staff members that stayed beyond the end of the school year; those special ladies upstairs in the union; Dan Boyd, who supplied some of the best photography ever, and my secretary in the GTA office.

I know the book isn't perfect; I did see one spelling mistake. But I hope you are pleased with the result. Since I won't be around next year, if you don't like this book, tell one of the staff members who are still around. No — tell all of the staff members; I'm sure they'll want to hear about it.

Seriously, we all have been blessed to share in the heritage of Taylor. No matter what walk of life we come from or are in now, we all have the chance to gain from the Taylor experience. I challenge each of you to make the most of it.

Special thanks to our section sponsors.
